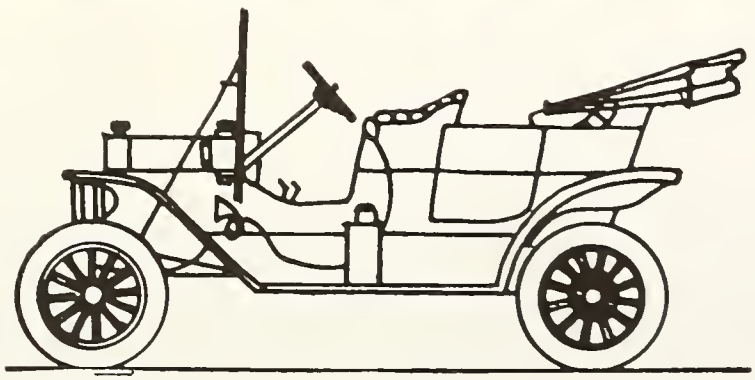
Collegiate Variety Show 1973



"Up from 20", Collegiate's Variety Show proved to be one of the many great successes of the school year, thanks to the fine directing by Mr. E. Izrael, the outstanding contributions of Mrs. Terry Pothier and her many vocalists, and the countless students and teachers who participated both on and off the stage. As its title suggests, this was a musical review of the past fifty years when we Canadians witnessed such things as the great Charlie Chaplin, and the speakeasies of the twenties.

It was a time of the great criminals such as Bonnie and Clyde, and the popular marathon dances that seemed to go on forever. Hollywood came out with something new for movie goers - the talkies. The world suffered during the Great Depression but this was brought to an end by World War II. By the end of the War, people began to notice how greatly the world had changed.

There was a new type of freedom. Styles were changing rapidly. The soda-shop was becoming the local hangout. Radio was being replaced by that new gadget, the television. Quiz shows and soap opera were becoming the focal point of the housewife's day. Then came the drug scene. And all this is the past 50 years!!

A Few Words from Our Principal

A.S. Wing

I would like to welcome all readers of Vox to another edition of our annual student yearbook.

The staff of the Vox Collegiensis are to be congratulated on its excellent format and thanked for another edition covering the record of the achievements of our students this past year.

"Tradition says that the Collegiate was founded in 1828, and thus it was one of the few seats of classic learning in the Province of Upper Canada at that time. Its founding and the opening of the Welland Canal were almost contemporaneous" (from Vox Collegiensis 1913). The author of the article - W.J. Robertson - concluded at that time that "a new Collegiate building is more important than a high level bridge."

The Central part of our school has now been in use for 50 years. Throughout most of the years that our school has operated, the Vox has published annually the achievements of our students and has been a storehouse of the history of our city and our school, and has evoked nostalgic memories for our former students and staff.

To our Vox staff - many thanks for all of us, past and present, for carrying on this excellent tradition.

A.S. Wing,
Principal.

Completing my second year at the Collegiate in my present capacity, I observe more programs, present and planned, geared for the individual. Recognizing that students vary in their interest and capabilities, the programs are being offered that will provide for these differences.

However, in offering the desired programs, the public and the educators, look to you, the students, to accept the increasing responsibility for your education and to become more active in the learning process.

In this year's yearbook, "Nostalgia '74", the yearbook staff is attempting to show you, the student body, the history of the last 50 years of the St. Catharines Collegiate. We are including a section that we call "Memories". This includes pictures of the clubs, teams, activities, and classes since 1923. We also have our usual 1973/74 activities and we hope you find this helps you remember the activities of the past year.

In my five years at the Collegiate, I have thoroughly enjoyed the teachers, my friends, and all of the school activities. I find only one thought mars these enjoyable years. It is the idea that everyone reaps the benefits that so few make possible. Every club in this school is composed of an executive, either elected or voluntary, and its members. This executive and members should work together as a whole to fulfill the tasks of the club, but unfortunately this is not the way it works. Only a few dedicated people do the work, while the other people offer only their name. These people also reap all the benefits. They are parasites, carrying no responsibilities or weight on their shoulders. The words of the late Sir Winston Churchill uttered during the Second World War still ring true, "Never was so much owed to so few by so many." If only everyone would get together and work, the tasks would be easier and the profits would be greater.

I would like to thank everyone who worked on the yearbook staff for all the time and effort they have donated to "Nostalgia 74." My special thanks go out to Mr. Nakhooda, Mr. Gallop, Mr. Brown, Gay Parsons, Brian Stutsman, Sue Fisher, Janice Brogden, Nancy Barkely, Laurie Slade, Cyndi Culp, Brian Kerley, Mike Jones, Sandy Mitchell and Judy Roddy. A lot of hard work went into this book, and we hope it's appreciated.

Thanx,

Leslie Townshend

The world is a boat and I'm in it
Going like hell with the breeze;
Important people are in it as well
Going with me and the breeze like hell-
It's a kind of a race and we'll win it.
Out of our way, gods, please!

The world is a game and I'm in it
For the little I have, no less;
Important people are in it for more,
They watch the wheel, I watch the door.
Who was the first to begin it?
Nobody knows, but we guess.

The world is a pond and I'm in it,
In it up to my neck;
Important people are in it too,
It's deeper than this, if we only knew;
Under we go, any minute-
A swirl, some bubbles, a fleck....

SENIOR BASKETBALL

The "55-65" high flying tricolours of the court had only three holdovers from last year's squad but were rounded out with a group of well-experienced ball players. They opened the season impressively by downing Notre Dame 53-49, but lost in Welland 54-53. The Seniors then moved back to their own gym and trimmed the Old Boys in the Annual Spectacular. The teachers from Hill Park School in Hamilton proved too much for the team. Then the Ernie Grove Club moved back to St. Kitts and shellacked Westdale.

Many thanks to Mr. Grove for his time and patience in coaching the team this year.

An Historical Look at the Collegiate 1827-1974

The Collegiate was conceived at a public meeting at "Mr. Dwyer's Merchants' Exchange", in 1827. The school's requirement of a government charter resulted in a two year delay, since, when the charter was introduced a vote was promised "tomorrow". Tomorrow came over a year later.

The Collegiate originally was a private school, a corporation complete with stockholders known as "The Grantham Academy". With the exception of the early District Grammar Schools, it was the second oldest secondary school in Ontario (preceded by Ernestown Academy at Bath in 1812).

The Grantham Academy had a classical core seen in such subjects as "Rhetorick, Logick, Natural Theology", "Natural and Moral Philosophy", Latin, Greek and Hebrew languages." This education was designed to give the citizens of the upper classes, the opportunity to have knowledge as to how to spend their leisure hours meaningfully, as well as provide an entry to professions, the church and mercantile activities such as nevigation, bookkeeping and surveying.

The Academy was open, in segregated classes, to girls till 1845 although they could only be taught the three R's and geography. Permission was given for a co-ed English class in 1833, but for mysterious reasons, it never got underway.

Women were re-admitted into the Collegiate in 1871, the year the school became the St. Catharines Collegiate Institute. They were met with cries of ridicule. Soon, women started winning scholarships to the University of Toronto, only to be barred from attending lectures. This was ended after years of agitation by the St. Catherines and Hamilton Collegiate Institutes.

Fees were found inadequate to run the school by 1831, when the school pleaded for more funds before the Legislature of Upper Canada. The elected Legislative Assembly twice approved financial assistance but this was twice rejected by the appointed Family Compact dominated Legislative Council. A leading figure of the Compact, Bishop Strahan, wanted education to be under the control of the Church of England, to which the British American Journal replied that the people of St. Catharines "were determined rather it (the academy) should perish than fall into the clutches of a state owned Church."

The Collegiate prospered with torrents of money and students (from all over Ontario) when a "payment by results" scheme was initiated in 1876. Though the Collegiate scored high on the provincial examinations it debased all other educational values for this end. This caused the system to be scrapped in 1883.

The Collegiate would have vacated its Robertson School, Church Street site in 1900 for a new location, but a disasterous fire swept St. Catharines and the building of a new school was shelved. Some thought that in 1913, a new school should be constructed instead of the Burgoyne Bridge. The construction was delayed during the First World War as it was unpopular to take money away from war efforts. The Collegiate had classes in a Church basement, the condemned third floor of Central School and their auditorium, which did not amuse the Provincial Government. In 1919, they issued an ultimatum forcing the school board either to lose their provincial grants or start immediately on the plans for a new school.

The school's name was changed upon moving to Catherine Street in the fall of 1922 to the St. Catharines Collegiate Institute and Vocational School. The name reflects the school's rigid division between the academic "Collegiate Institute" and the "Vocational School". A teacher who taught English to Vocational students was considered part of the "Vocation School" Academic students could not take any technical courses as these were available only to members of the "Vocational School". An early edition of "Vox" called the school "Four Schools in One", "Collegiate, Commercial, Technical (For Boys only), Household Arts (For Girls only)" and none could take a course outside the branch in which he was enrolled.

It was necessary to create the Vocational School, as many students left school after grade eight because they had little hope or intention of going to University. The "Vocational School" provided the chance to learn a trade which gave meaningful reason for the students to attend. The success of this program was reflected in the jump of the 1923 enrolment from 797 to 1,690 students by 1929. It was stated in "Vox" of 1929 that an addition was being planned, although none knew that this addition would not come till 1948. During this period classes of forty students were common, and students sometimes sat on window sills.

With the 1950's and 1960's the name Collegiate Institute and Vocational School lost its former meaning as students began to take courses not limited to an all inclusive package. This time also saw the construction of three wings, giving the school a much larger size for a school whose population has remained basically constant since 1929.

In 1971 the school went to an ungraded system. Now the staff is making plans for adopting the semester system for next year, 1974.

The Collegiate today is facing the new goals of a new society and is not sleeping on the memories of its long eventful past.

On March 6, 1968, CI held an Open House, which was part of Education Week. It is estimated that well over a thousand visitors came to see the exhibits and presentations by the faculty and students.

Later in the year, the Collegiate was proud to be the host of "K-13", the largest educational exposition ever held in the area. K-13 gave visitors an opportunity to see students from both the public and secondary schools in the St. Catharines area to show what is learned in this social context called "school."

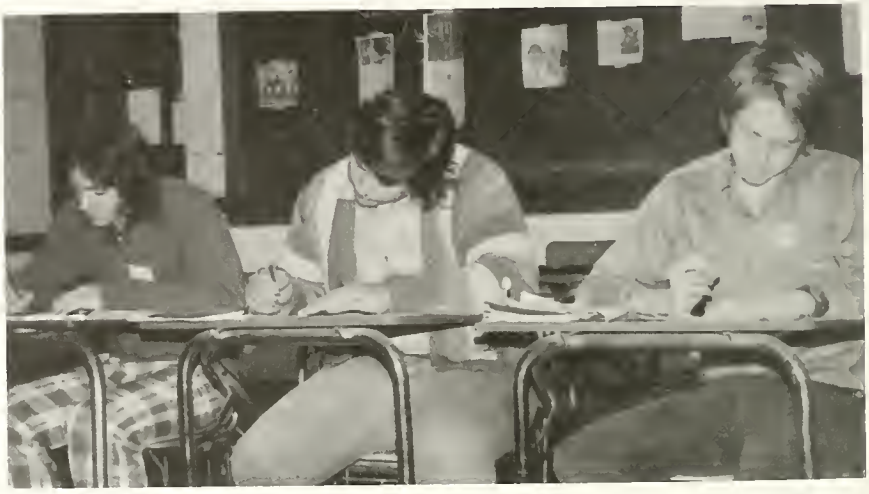
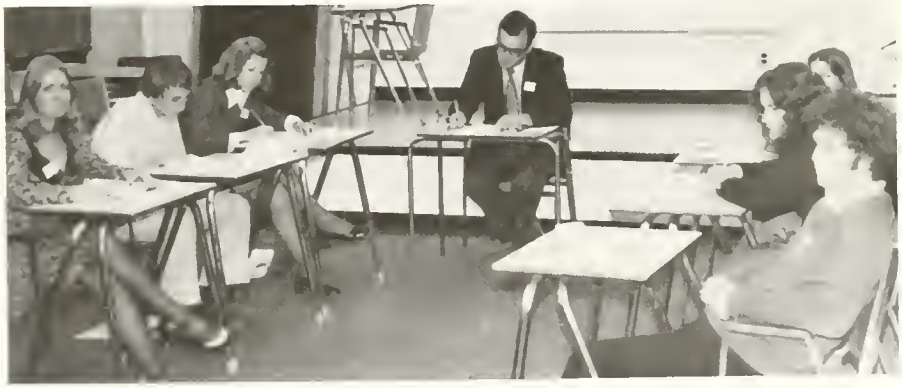
Winter Carnival

Debating Tournament





The Debating Tournament hosted by our school on November 29, 1973 was the high point of our activities so far. The tournament involved thirty students from nine area schools. Debators, chairmen and judges all thought that it was a profitable learning experience.

Collegiate teams had previously debated against Grantham and Merritton teams.

The primary aim of this school club is to give students the opportunity to develop rhetorical skills by actively taking part in debates.

Library Club

The Library Club is an organization in which one can learn the different aspects of library work. In the club one works at many things such as: displays, desk work and even putting away books. This will also give one some experience in case he has chance at a job in one of the Public Libraries.

Last Chance Productions

In its second year of existence this organization has grown in size. In September L.C.P. helped the senate in putting on the first assembly of the year. A few days later Last Chance Productions put on four solid performances during orientation day. Then Last Chance performed during the Christmas assembly in December. At press time more plans were being prepared. The organization consists of Henry Kobylka, Paul Berstling, Frank Ingala, Bob Duyn, Rick Mitchell, Lori Berketo, Lisa Pickering, Elizabeth Loo, and Kelly Tufford. The staff advisor is Miss Busby. We are sure that this organization will continue to write material and perform for many years to come.

The Col

Visits

Thirty-three students and two teachers, Mr. Gaiero and Mrs. Campbell leave for a nine day trip to Paris, France.

On March 15, 1973, thirty-three Collegiate students left the Malton Airport in Toronto in high spirits of the next eight days they would spend in Paris, France. The next day these students, under the supervision of Mr. Robert Gaiero and Mrs. Lynda Campbell, arrived at the Brussels' Airport. Because of the air strike at that time, they had to then travel from Brussels to Paris by bus and further still to the small village of Dourdan.

When eager beavers get hungry.....

Show-offs.

legiate Paris

The boys go shopping....Where's Alex?

Sight-seeing began with Notre Dame Cathedral, then Place de la Concorde, the Louvre with such masterpieces as the Venus and the Mona Lisa. The students also took a boat tour, saw the Eiffel Tower, Les Invalides, and Napoleon's Tomb. But Paris at night was the icing to top the cake. In addition to seeing the city itself, the students saw much of the countryside. They went on separate excursions to Fontainbleau, Chartres, Versailles and Reims, where they marvelled at the beauty of the many castles and palaces preserved especially for the public.

I've never heard of miles of champagne.

I wonder why they call it the Hall of Mirrors.

Such a quaint little place, Versailles.

Remember our fifteen mile hike?

Rotary Club Medalists

Larisa Freimanis

Peter Elliott

The hisotry of the Rotary Medal dates back to the opening of the present Collegiate - 1923. Since that time, the Rotary Medal has been presented annually to two senior students from each of the city's high schools. The award is presented by the St. Catharines' Rotary Club, upon the recommendation of the senior student body, from a list of deserving students drawn up by the principal and teachers of the school. This "service above self" award goes to Peter Elliott and Larisa Freimanis in 1973. No two students are more deserving of this award.

Rega

The "Rega" dancers from Erlangen West Germany give a concert of Pommeranian dances in our auditorium. This group has toured Europe since 1967 and has won many prizes at folk dancing festivals there. This is their first tour in North America.

Collegiate Newspaper Staff

This group you see before you is unlike any other assembled in the hallowed pages of Vox Collegiensis. Determined, dedicated, members work from their underground headquarters to produce newspapers of various names monthly (remember Campus Columns, Newsletter, and Idyl). When not arguing over a new name the students endeavour to enlighten, inform, and entertain the students. The paper deals with the burning social and educational questions and humourous answers to reveal to the students what really goes on at the St. C.C.I. & V.S.

These people are guided in their hope that by having a good school newspaper, the school would be better for that fact. (Editor's Note: What a bunch of fanatics eh?) Well, here is a list of those smiling people. Mr. Howieson and Mr. Kerho are the brave staff advisors. The rest of the gang are: John Bacher, Janice Cole, Claudia Moryn, Margaret Secord, Denise Perras, Kim McLean, Brenda Sexton, Fred Bacher, Mac Vomberg, Varton Semerjian, Victor Glasgo, Blair Harley, John MacDonald, Yvonne Mikitzel, Jennifer Bullivant, Cindy Conklin, and Al Fox.

Theatre Guild

Amidst the jungle of aimless groupies the Theatre Guild stands as a productive, worthwhile organization. Though their productions have sometimes met with rudeness and disapproval, it has not detracted from the excellent quality of entertainment. The purpose of the club is to provide the opportunity for those interested in theatre to exercise their talents in a friendly, working atmosphere.

Cross-Country

Girl's

Though the season started off well with 2 midget teams and 1 junior; the training proved too rigorous and we were left with 1 midget team. These girls placed 3rd at Zone and 5th at SOSSA; not a bad ending.

Boy's

Cross-Country '73 has been a year when the team was rebuilt. Only one boy returned from the previous year but gradually a junior and midget boys' team took shape. The midgets were led by Dean Thompson who finished 29th at SOSSA while the juniors were led by Rick Rogerson who finished 20th at SOSSA. We hope this strong nucleus will return next season for bigger and better things.

Computer Science Club

The Computer Science Club has now been in existence for three years, and presently has 18 members. The president is Brent Adams and his staff includes Mark Johnson, Mac Vomberg, and Wanda Rutledge. The club's activities include mathematical games and of course writing programs to be processed by computers. The club has planned various trips to Brock University and the Board of Education and a trip to the University of Waterloo. The staff advisors are Mr. Vince and Mr. Terpstra.

I.S.C.F.

The Inter-School Christian Fellowship is a group of students saved through the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, meeting together for Christian Fellowship and to tell others of the love of Christ for them.

The planning committee are Terry Petkan, Bill McPhail, John Longhurst, and John Polonenko. The staff advisors are Mr. J. Wiebe and P. Klassen.

Geography Club

The Geography Club Executive consists of: President--Brad Gray, Vice-President-Stephen Shortland, Secretary-Linda MacLennan and Treasurer-Mary Johnston. The Club boasts a membership of 37. The Staff Advisors are: Mr. Wolfenberg, Mr. Terpstra and Mrs. Bryson.

The purpose of the Geography Club is to foster in students a sense of self-confidence both in themselves and towards others. To accomplish this, the students are placed in situations (usually out of doors) that challenge them, (rappelling, camping in winter without tents). These situations are ones that the students would not normally find themselves in. Throughout club activities, the qualities of leadership and responsibility are developed.

The Club runs three major camps a year thus far. There is the fall camp on Manitoulin Island, the winter camp at Gould Lake north of Kingston and the spring camp at Cyprus Lake on the northern tip of the Bruce Peninsula.

Besides the major camps the club carries on weekend activities in rappelling and cross-country skiing, leading to the proficiency in the use of equipment. To finance both the camps and the purchase of equipment the club runs car washes and bottle drives. The club is planning a St. John's Ambulance First Aid Course, a swimming course, and a rope safety course during the winter months.

Camera Club

The executive of the Camera Club are: President-Frank Wieler, Vice-President-Mike Jones, Secretary-Westley Postma, Treasurer-Mr. D. Lee.

The purpose of the C.I. Camera Club is to develop one's artistic nature, to learn the basic operation of the camera and its connected processes, such as developing a film and printing the film.

It teaches the students to use the equipment they have, and get the most out of it. Photography is a subject which is constantly changing; just when one thinks one has mastered it, something new comes up.

Tech Club

This year the Tech. Club has been very helpful by providing lighting and sound cues which greatly add to such occasions as the musical Three Penny Opera, Concerts, and the Variety Show. As an added feature of the T.C. they sponsored and produced the Beauty Pageant.

The meetings of the Tech Club are held every Monday after school. The executives of the T.C. are: President-Allan Lounsbury, Vice-President-Joe Bond, Secretary-Nancy Barkley, and the staff advisor-Mr. D. Drennen.

Cheerleaders

C.I.'s senior pep builders finally agreeing on a cheer.

Chess Club

The Collegiate Chess Club is an opportunity for students to relax after school and play chess with other interested staff or students. The organization is extremely loose with no formal executive, but rather the meetings are run by a student in attendance. As part of the programme the members engage in competition with other schools when the opportunities arise.

The club also has organized tournaments in the school in connection with school activities like the Winter Carnival. The regular and itinerant membership numbers around a dozen students. The keeper of the chess set cupboard keys is Mr. Wilhelmson. The meetings usually occur once a week on a Monday in room 313.

CITY OF ST. CATHARINES
ONTARIO

BOX 3012
POSTAL CODE L2R 7C2

"It is the duty of every citizen according to his best capacities to give validity to his convictions in political affairs" Albert Einstein

Every profession has its detractors...and the political profession is certainly no exception. As a matter of fact, it might be more aptly described as the rule, since at times politics would appear to be the chief target for some of the most overworked and intemperate forms of derision. And while it is unfortunate that, because of this, an ancient and honourable profession is often being irresponsibly defamed, the most serious result of all is that so many of our young people are being discouraged from entering public life.

Personally, I make no apologies for being involved in our country's political process; I have known and have been associated with far too many politicians of intelligence, integrity, and dedication not to take a large measure of pride in the opportunity that has been extended to me to serve my community and my fellow-citizens in my present capacity. And knowing, too, the great potential for good that lies within our system, I feel I would be remiss if I did not strongly exhort our young people to seriously consider devoting themselves to some form of political involvement. You might have to withstand some gibes and jokes along the way, but the co-operation and the goodwill of the vast majority of your fellow-citizens, and the chance you will have to play a role in preserving and in building upon all that is decent and fair in our society will far outweigh any other considerations.

Public office, is not as the man once said, "the last refuge of scoundrels". It is fertile ground for idealists, and a field worthy of the noblest dreams and aspirations of our young men and women.

The President Bids Farewell

Another year is over and I can now lead a much simpler life. You must admit that this year we did not lack activities. During the year there were both good times and bad. Looking back at the year it seems that only the good times are easy to remember. Who wants to remember the bad? The Senate made every attempt possible to supply YOU with events. I hope that you were one of the people who took advantage of these. A lesson can be learned in coming out to events. Education is not learned in the classroom alone. During activities one learns responsibility, pleasures of life and the happiness of new friendships. Those who are busy are usually happy. The most difficult problem we had this year, in attempting to plan events, was our bank account. For the most part of the year our bank account was in such a position that anyone would laugh at it. Perhaps with a few more thousand, we could have done more. Yet, among all the accomplishments and failures I must say that the thing I enjoyed most this year, was getting a chance to meet new people at C.I. There are a lot of interesting people here and if they all got together on an idea, this school of ours could really be fantastic. Remember, no matter what you do in life, make sure that you are always involved in one way or another. Lead a happy life, keep smiling and remember your memories of Collegiate. Good Luck and God Bless.

FRIENDSHIP

Having enjoyed the friendship of many people in many places
for many years
...I have learned that, in the main,
people are as we
choose to find them;

that reason
can overcome prejudice;
that knowledge
can overcome ignorance;
that love can overcome hate;
that goodness
can conquer evil.
